

“Somewhere Over There.”

The following letter was received by W M Rector from his son Pvt Ernest L Rector Somewhere in France:

Dear Folks,

Only a few lines this morning to let you know I am well and getting along fine. Hope you are all well. I am thinking we will see the end of this great war in a short time now, if things keep going like they are at present, and then we can return to the good old U. S. A. I never thought it would be here like it is, the boys are always joking and having a good time, if they get blue they don't let anyone know it. Why its great to be here and see how things are going over here. So write me a long letter and give me all the home news. Love to one and all.
