

“Somewhere Over There.”

The following letter was received by W O Jones from his sons Soloman and George, somewhere in France:

Dear Father, I take time once more to write you a few lines. We are well and truly hope you all are the same. Has Andy Jones gone to camp yet? If he has I don't think he will have to come across. You wrote me to tell you when I thought I would be home, well I think I will be home inside of a year, and maybe right soon. Write me regular and all the news.
